DEMOCRATS ARE MAKING WINNING RACE

Christian County Situation Is More Than Satisfactory and Growing Better.

THE TIDE IS AGAINST MORROW
Governor Black Will Run Ahead of His Ticket In Western Kentucky.

Coming down the home stretch, with head and tail up and nose full of wind, the Democratic war horse, transferred to the race track, is throwing dust in the eyes of the lumbering elephant of the G. O. P. ridden by a chronic office seeker who is a warrior in peace and a Quaker when men are needed at the front.

The Democrats will win because they deserve success. Morrow will be defeated again because Kentucky cannot afford to elect a man of his calibre and character as governor.

An opponent of the peace policy worked out by the greatest statesmen of the world, he is a traitor for Lafollette, Borah, Reed and others who seek a common level in a Senate made up of patriots and others.

He is openly supported by anti-prohibitionists, in both parties. Four years ago hundreds of Democratic ministers supported him believing him to be in sympathy with prohibition. This time it is doubtful if he gets the preacher votes in his own party.

Christian county has been made the battleground of Western Kentucky and the Democrats will give a good account of themselves. The Republicans see the handwriting on the wall and will play their strong card—the right word to use for Ed—Monday, when former Governor Willson will point out the straws that are floating on the surface of the Democratic tidal wave.

The Democrats will close their campaign at the same hour with a speech by Prof. L. E. Foster at the Courthouse Monday at 1:30, Gov. Willson having refused a division of time.

Other speeches are in prospect. J. Virgil Chapman, State Rural School Supervisor, will speak at Fairview this afternoon to the voters of both Christian and Todd counties.

John C. Duffy and H. A. Robinson will speak to the voters at Crofton this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock.

REGISTRATION LOOKS GOOD

During the three days of supplemental registration, there were registered 84 Republicans, 73 Democrats, and 5 Independents. With the totals of the regular registration day added to this gives a registered voting strength for next Tuesday in the city of Hopkinsville of 1,139 Republicans, 1,034 Democrats and 56 Independents.

This shows an increase for the Democrats, as the Republicans have a plurality of only 105, not taking account of the 56 Independents, the majority of whose votes will go to the Democrats.

In 1915, Morrow carried the city by a majority of 324.

SAVED BY A MUD BATH

Deep mud is usually regarded as nothing but a nuisance, yet it probably saved the life a few days ago of the child of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cook, of this county.

Mr. and Mrs. Cook were driving through the neighborhood over roads that were very muddy and bad. In one particularly bad place the buggy was overturned, and the child was caught under the wheels and run over. But the soft mud gave way sufficiently to prevent the child being injured. The mother and father were not hurt.

GOVERNMENT TO MEET STRIKE WITH FORCE

ILLEGAL WALKOUT OF COAL MINERS TO BE MET BY ARM OF LAW

MAXIMUM PRICES ARE FIXED

President Wilson Approves Plans of Dealing With the Strike Situation.

Washington, Oct. 31.—The order re-establishing the old maximum coal prices of the fuel administration was completed last night at a conference of Dr. H. A. Garfield and Railroad Administration officials. It was taken immediately to the white house for President Wilson's signature. Dr. Grayson had given permission to put it before the president without delay.

Judge C. B. Ames, assistant to the Attorney General in charge of antitrust suits and the enforcement of the fuel food control law, has gone to Indianapolis to take active charge of the government's fight against the illegal coal strike.

The government has put on its fighting clothes to meet the coal strike due to start Saturday.

While order after order popped out with startling war-time swiftness, the long arm of the law reached out to protect the public and those miners willing to remain at work in the face of the union commands to quit.

Most drastic of all moves during the day was the order of the Railroad Administration for seizure of all coal in transit for roads requiring it, with rationing of stocks on hand to essential industries.

So far as the government is able to prevent there will be no profiteer while the grim specter of winter, with coal bins dangerously low or bare, looms big and close at hand. Almost the first step was the drafting of an order formally issued, fixing a maximum price for all grades of coal. Re-establishment of the priorities list will put coal where it is most needed, and if it comes to that the government will curtail consumption.

President Active.

Breaking down the barriers which had kept the members of the cabinet away from his sick room, President Wilson took a hand in the fight and personally approved early details in the general plan of dealing with the walkout of the soft coal miners. For twenty minutes the President, propped up in bed, went over with Attorney General Palmer the various steps, heard what orders had been issued and was put in intimate touch with all arrangements. The president, it was said, was especially gratified to learn of protective measures, both for the homes and the mines.

The coal strike took precedence over the peace treaty in the Senate, which for four hours debated and then adopted a resolution pledging its support to the government in maintaining order during the present industrial emergency. Efforts to have the House take similar action failed because of opposition of the Republican leaders.

In and out of Congress, however, sentiment seemed to turn through one groove and there were expressions of general approval of the government's determination to keep the mines in full operation.

To Protect Miners Working.

While the only statement given out after the special meeting of the cabinet dealt with issuance of an order relating to the fixing of a maximum coal price, the members understood to have considered means of protecting miners who will not strike. Reports received from confidential sources during the past few days, officials said, indicated that a considerable number would keep on turning out coal if afforded protection, and this, officials added, would be given in abundant measures.

Covington, Ky., Oct. 31.—Edward P. Morrow's overpowering interest in the school children of the State and in education for Kentucky is shown by a document made public here, showing that Mr. Morrow while district attorney and a resident of Covington, charged the Board of Education $25 for delivering a high school commencement address in June, 1914, while his opponent in the governor's race, delivered a similar address in June, 1917, and refused to make any charge for the address or even to accept a return of his railroad fare from Barbourville.

Cash Voucher No. 825, paid July 3, 1914, reads as follows:

"Covington, Ky., July 3, 1914.—Board of Education, Dr., to Hon. Edwin P. Morrow for services as speaker at Covington High School Commencement June 16, 1914....

STRIKE IS STOPPED BY INJUNCTION

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 31.—A temporary injunction restraining all strike activities of the United Mine Workers of America, was issued in Federal Court here today on application of the Federal Government, on showing that a national disaster was impending and on the broad general grounds that the government has the right to enforce its laws and protect the people from calamity.

The order, directed against all officials of the organization, took effect when served and will be effective until the formal hearing, Nov. 8.

AUCTION SALE WEDNESDAY

One of the Biggest Real Estate Deals of The Year To Be Pulled Off.

The big auction sale of the Fowler farm of 300 acres, next Wednesday, is a paramount event in real estate circles. This farm lies in sight of the city on the Clarksville pike and was recently bought by For est E. White for a stock farm, but Mr. White has sold his herd of cattle and is now placing his farm on the market, platted for suburban homes, with a view of moving to the city. T. J. McReynolds is handling the real estate auction and has advertised the sale in a way to attract very wide attention.

This farm was formerly owned and the house upon it built by the late Judge T. J. Morrow. It lies between the L. & N. Railroad and the Clarksville pike with the East branch of Little River skirting one end of it. It could not be more advantageously situated. It is provided with all needed improvements, including light and water plants in the house. The farm is sub-divided into plats suitable for suburban homes and prices are expected to be commensurate with the exceptional values offered. Easy terms are offered.

GOMPERS AS A LEADER.

Samuel Gompers has been posing as a sort of ballast wheel for the radical element, and actually went to Europe as an advisor of the President, has thrown off the mask in the present crisis when his good influence would be of most value, and is encouraging an unjustifiable labor war against capital at this time. In Washington Tuesday a dispatch says, thousands of organized workers of the District of Columbia, paraded down Pennsylvania avenue in honor of Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor and later heard the veteran leader assert that "big business" definitely had determined to give labor, because of its growing strength, a blow between the eyes. "The attitude of the U. S. Steel Corporation toward the steel workers' unions," he added, "was only one manifestation of this determination on the part of industry." Mr. Gompers said that while at the beginning of the steel strike he considered it "unjust," since learning of the plans of the steel companies in common with all employers he had changed his mind and now the steel strikers had his utmost sympathy. As evidence of this sympathetic attitude he appealed to the District of Columbia workers to contribute to the support of the strikers.

Three hundred war brides of American soldiers still remain in France according to a cable message made public by the Overseas Department of the Young Women's Christian Association from Mrs. Sue C. Seymour, known as "official mother-in-law to the A. E. F." Two hundred brides will embark within the next fifteen days and the rest before January 1.

The "Armstrong" matter does not look right on the face. The mysterious Armstrong should hasten to divulge himself if the transaction in which his name was used was a proper one. If it was a clumsy case of graft, Gov. Black should not and will not spare the guilty party. He covered up nothing when he was under fire himself and his own statement satisfied even his enemies.

Lieut. Jas. H. Coleman, who has been abroad for nearly two years, has reached New York and will soon be discharged and sent home.

ARMSTRONG MYSTERY

Republican Political Sensation Turns Out to Be a Flash in the Pan.

The "Armstrong Mystery," so far as the identity of Armstrong is concerned, has vanished into thin air.

A. S. J. Armstrong, whose bid for furnishing cloth to the State House of Reform at Greendale, Ky., was accepted by the State Board of Control in August, 1918, is in Louisville and has been here all the time.

He is no more a "mystery" than any man who was born in Jefferson county, has made his home here all his life and whose family has been prominent in Louisville and Jefferson county for a hundred years.

Who Mr. Armstrong Is.

A. S. J. Armstrong is 38 years old. He was born in Jefferson county at the old Armstrong place near Buechel on the Bardstown road.

His father was William O. Armstrong, who was a widely known resident of Jefferson county.

Mr. Armstrong's grandfather was Venne P. Armstrong, who was one of the most prominent business men in Louisville before the war. He was a porkpacker, banker, capitalist and was active in the chief enterprises that laid the foundation of Louisville's prosperity and progress.

Venne P. Armstrong, the father known in Louisville chronicles as having married, as his second wife, Sallie Ward Downs, the famous Kentucky beauty.

Here More Than Century.

William O. Armstrong, the father of A. S. J. Armstrong, was born in Jefferson county about eighty years ago. Venne P. Armstrong was in Louisville long before that time, so the history of the Armstrong family in Louisville dates back more than one hundred years to the very beginning of the city. To give further evidence of how completely this family of "mystery" figures in the very beginning of Kentucky history, the family is descended from Daniel Boone.

Mr. Armstrong's Story.

The Armstrong family was always prominent in business in Louisville. A. S. J. Armstrong came into a moderate inheritance when he became of age and some fifteen years ago was widely known among the young men of the city. He engaged in business enterprises, secured positions and changed them after the manner of the average young man.

In the summer of 1918 when the markets for supplies were all demoralized because of the war and when speculations in material of all kinds was engaged in generally Mr. Armstrong engaged in speculations of this kind and became a cloth broker.

He submitted a bid for furnishing cloth to the State House of Reform at $1 a yard. His bid was accepted by the State Board of Control.

The State Board of Control has said that at that time the woolen market was completely demoralized because of the war. The government had taken all the woolen supplies. The Baldwin people had been furnishing woolen goods to the State for years at an average rate of 87 cents

GLAD TO TESTIFY

Says Watoga Lady, "As To What Cardui Has Done For Me, So As To Help Others."

Watoga, W. Va.—Mrs. S. W. Gladwell, of this town, says: "When about 15 years of age, I suffered greatly . . . Sometimes would go a month or two, and I had terrible headache, backache, and bearing-down pains, and would just drag and had no appetite. Then . . . it would last . . . two weeks, and was so weakening, and my health was awful.

My mother bought me a bottle of Cardui, and I began to improve after taking the first bottle, so kept it up till I took three . . . I gained, and was well and strong, and I owe it all to Cardui.

I am married now and have 3 children . . . Have never had to have a doctor for female trouble, and just resort to Cardui if I need a tonic. I am glad to testify to what it has done for me, so as to help others."

If you are nervous or weak, have headaches, backaches, or any of the other ailments so common to women, why not give Cardui a trial? Recommended by many physicians. In use over 40 years.

Begin taking Cardui today. It may be the very medicine you need.

a yard. This company notified the State that it would not bid for State contracts because of the war, and that its prices had risen to $2.30. Under these conditions Mr. Armstrong's bid bid of $1 for substitute cloth was accepted.

The bids received ranging from 65 cents to $1.50.

Worked in Powder Plant.

Mr. Armstrong was beyond the age of the first draft, but registered for the second draft. Shortly after this, wishing to engage in war work he went to Nashville and secured a position in the government powder plant. He contracted influenza there and was desperately ill. After his recovered he returned to Louisville and secured employment with the M. T. Finley Ice Company, 709 York street. To be near his place of employment he has roomed at 650 S. Eighth street.

"I have been in Louisville all the time," said Mr. Armstrong to an Evening Post reporter. "There has never been the slightest mystery about me. I was born in Jefferson county and have been a resident of Louisville and Jefferson county all my life."

Mr. Ray's Brother-in-law.

Mr. Armstrong is the brother-in-law of Eugene Ray.

Mr. Ray was formerly secretary of the Board of Prison Commissioners. He was appointed secretary of the board, of which Daniel E. O'Sullivan was chairman, under Gov. McCreary.

Mr. Ray's term expired April 1, 1918. At that time the Board of Prison Commissioners and the Board of Control were being consolidated. Mr. Ray remained a little while to assist the new board, but ended his service July 17, 1918.

He was not secretary of the board of control and was not connected with it in any way when Mr. Armstrong made his bid to furnish cloth in August, 1918.

The State Board of Control has said that at that time the woolen market was completely demoralized because of the war. The government had taken all the woolen supplies.

The Baldwin people had been furnishing woolen goods to the State for years at an average rate of 87 cents

There is a harrassing discomfort caused by Eczema that almost becomes a torture. The itching is almost unbearable, and the skin seems on fire with the burning irritation. Elect Gov. Black Tuesday Kentuckians! The issues are clear! On its record in State and Nation, a united Democracy asks you to answer these questions by your votes on Tuesday, November 4th.

Will a Ringing Message of cheer go to that sick chamber in Washington, or will Kentucky go under the cloud of support of those men who are seeking to discredit America's Greatest Statesman, purely for partisan Reasons?

Will Kentucky go forward to four years of progress under the able leadership of Governor James D. Black, or will it become a pawn in the hands of A. T. Hert, whose sole use for our State is the furtherance of personal ambition?

Ballard Self-Confessed Profiteer

Thurston Ballard, the multi-millionaire president of Ballard Mills, of Louisville, was the man chosen by A. T. Hert for his hand-picked Republican ticket as the candidate for Lieutenant Governor. A close personal and business friend of Mr. Hert's, with ample funds at his disposal for campaign purposes, it is easy to see why he was chosen for as the nominee for this office.

Admits Selling His Flour at $1.10 Less in New Orleans Than in His Own State.

This is the man who is running with Mouth-Piece Morrow at the head of the Republican ticket—the man who, by his own admission, pleaded guilty to being a profiteer. Not satisfied with profiteering, the defense he made of his action is a slap at the people of Kentucky. The reason he gave is that he sells his flour for cash in New Orleans—as though Kentuckians could not pay cash!

Black Fights For the League of Nations But Morrow Only Equivocates!

The Republican nominee is already listening to "His Master's Voice." To Gov. Black's repeated challenges as to his stand for or against the League of Nations, he has given only evasive answers. He dare not face the issue fairly and squarely.

Yet is there anyone who doubts that the election of Morrow will be hailed by Republicans as a victory in their fight in opposition to the League of Nations.

Elect Morrow governor and they will come out from under cover and in glaring headlines announce that Woodrow Wilson's stand for civilization has been repudiated.

By their evasion they stand against it—they make it an issue.

Kentucky gave nearly three thousand of her sons to make the world safe for democracy. Will their lives have been given in vain? Will Kentucky continue to uphold the hands of Woodrow Wilson, to whom the peoples of the world are looking for leadership? Your votes Tuesday will decide.

Shall A. T. Hert Rule Kentucky?

Hark to What Chairman Rhea Said of A. T. Hert, the Republican "Boss" of Louisville, in His Speech at the Opening of the Democratic State Campaign at Hopkinsville.

"Shall A. T. Hert, lately of Indiana, now of Kentucky, be allowed to name the members of the State Tax Commission? Shall he and his millions dominate the politics of this state for the next four years? This is the most vital issue facing the people of the State today."

"Shall Mr. Hert, with the aid of Thurston Ballard, the profiteer, and the other millionaire candidates on the Republican ticket, be allowed to take over the State government outright? Behind Mr. Morrow's booming voice is the cunning hand of Hert. Morrow is the mere mouth-piece for Hert. The voice is that of Jacob, but the hand that of Esau. Shall Hert build a bridge from the Louisville City Hall to the State Capitol? Shall the Louisville Republican machine extend its sway to Frankfort?"

ENDORSED BY J. P. MORGAN

New York, Oct. 46.—H. P. Davison, of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., and directing head of the American Red Cross has given emphatic endorsement of the Episcopal church's Nation-wide Campaign in a letter made public today. Mr. Davison writes as a business man, endorsing not only the spiritual objects of the campaign but, after a careful examination of the plans, he expresses the opinion that "they are sound and logical and if faithfully carried out, should lead without doubt to a successful outcome."

To Bishop Arthur S. Lloyd, chairman of the Nation-wide Campaign Committee, Mr. Davison wrote as follows:

"I desire to take this opportunity to express to you my deep feeling of thankfulness that the church realizes in a large way the great opportunities for service which are before her. We were, during the war period able to create a great world-wide organization for relief of the suffering resultant from the conflict; and under the noble impulses which were awakened, there was mustered into the service of humanity a vast amount to hitherto latent will to serve."

"The world is facing many problems scarcely less vital than those which were settled on the field of battle. Many of these are incapable of solution except in the light of the teachings of Christianity."

"The Red Cross welcomes the fellowship of the church in the field which is large enough for all and where there is an especial task for the church, which I believe your nation-wide campaign is well designed to equip it to discharge."

THE AMERICAN LEGION

The Jefferson Chapter of the American Legion located at Louisville, Ky., has gained its first victory in its fight for 100 per cent. Americanism. For some days there had been a fight to a finish between the Legion and Rev. John G. Stilli, pastor of the so-called Peoples' Church.
He has been in the limelight during the war, and was severely criticised for his stand in the war and his alleged utterances regarding it.

On Wednesday night, Rev. Stilli threw up the sponge, and announced the official dissolution of the church.

In regard to this work of the American Legion, the Courier Journal says:

Flying the Colors.

Chalk up a score for Americanism!
Jefferson Post of the American Legion has done a good piece of work in bringing an end to the political performances of a notorious Louisville radical who long, in the name and under the privileges of the Church, has sought to undermine the American State. This man, clever enough to avoid violating the letter of a very inadequate law, has persistently exercised a pernicious influence on persons not firmly grounded in devoted comprehension of American institutions, and if the Legion has found a way to put a quietus on him it has done a service to his people in thorough keeping with the association's inspiration and aim of "100 per cent. Americanism."

It is a fine thing for any community to have such an organization as the local post of the American Legion, animated by its ideals and fearless in their promotion. And it is good to know that these young Americans are as intelligent as they are patriotic. They are taking for granted from the disbandment of one "church." They realize that the disbandment of his church is not like to end the activities of the pal-pitier, and that those activities are not likely to take so commendable a diversion as to turn from the pulpit to the "plow." It is gratifying, therefore, to hear from Sam McMeekin, the head of Jefferson Post, say,
"developments thus far have merely scratched the surface. We will go ahead with our plans to obliterate disloyalty in Louisville wherever it raises its head, whether the disloyal-ty is of the present or of the past."

preacher, has just won first honors

now Rev. Wm. M. Partridge, an Episcopal minister of Massachusetts has been accorded the honor of having his type of balloon accepted by the Navy Department.

"For over a year and a half I have been engaged in scientific work for the Government. I have spent nine months in one of the navy yards outside of Massachusetts and a month in one of the aviation stations," explained the minister inventor.

"The government is building a number of my machines as a result of my investigations. I cannot give particulars of my work for the navy, but it is a machine that will revolutionize warfare every time."

Minister Partridge, while working on his machine, preached on Sundays to the men with whom he worked during the day.

The Democratic ticket has steadily grown in strength from the day it was nominated. The party seems to be thoroughly united in its support. When the party was badly divided four years ago, Gov. Black, then a candidate for Lieutenant Governor,
was elected by 8,700 majority.
With the party united and the conditions in every way more favorable, Gov. Black's majority ought not to be less than 20,000. It will certainly be more than it was before.

THE WEEK OF NOVEMBER 2.

There has been much said about the splendid work of the American Red Cross both in peace and war times, and even louder than the spoken and written words speaks the marvelous service which it has done.

Beginning November 2nd and continuing throughout the week the people of the United States are asked to support a peace program which will continue the work on an enlarged scale. To each person is made the appeal—if you believe in the work of the organization and are willing to continue it, express your willingness by wearing a 1920 membership button.

Of the Red Cross Band it does not take great wealth to be a part. It does not take great rank or power. Just a dollar and a heart.

IN COURT SIX YEARS.

The case of Buckner vs. Buckner, affirmed by the court of appeals this week, with a reversal of one point in it, ended litigation that had been in the courts for six years. The decision was a victory for Upshaw Buckner, now of Nashville, over the heirs of H. C. Buckner, the suit involving the transfer of the storehouse now occupied by Elgin's drug store. The suit grew out of the settlement of Mrs. Sarah Buckner's estate.

LOOK OUT FOR CANARDS

Democrats and dry Republicans of Kentucky who have already made up their minds to support the Democratic State ticket headed by Governor James D. Byack, are cautioned to look out for eleventh-hour canards on the eve of the election. The Republican charge against the Board of Control about coal being sold to the House of Reform by Tom Hatcher and a blower being required to make it burn, as well as cloth being sold to the institution at exorbitant prices, which was exploded by the statement of the Board of Control and the affidavits of the men said to have been interested, is on a par with other charges made by the desperate and reckless Republicans. It has been said that these reckless charges are being made with a view to putting some "pep" into the decaying Republican campaign throughout the State and arousing some interest in a matter the voters have already practically decided.

There is only one thing that can cause the defeat of Governor Black Nov. 4 and that is the failure of the Democrats of Kentucky to go to the polls and vote. It is not likely that any of them will fail to do that. With a Republican majority in the United States Senate doing all it can to harass and bedevil the sick president, with a few notable exceptions, fighting the peace treaty and the League of Nations, and a Republican candidate in Kentucky who refuses to take a stand on that question, it is fatuous to say that the league is not an issue in the election. Let every man, Democratic or Republican, who wants to back the President in his schemes to end war for all time, make it a point to vote early on November 4 and vote for a ticket that will uphold in Kentucky, so far as they may have the power, the plans of President Wilson for the permanent peace of the world.

Cheaper Meats in Louisville. H. C. L. is on the toboggan and meat is getting cheaper.

City Buyer Cross found this out yesterday when he received bids from dealers supplying the city with meat for municipal institutions. In nearly every instance bids cut recent prices paid by the city in half. Beef was offered at from 7 to 10 cents a pound, veal at approximately 17 cents and lamb at 10 cents.

Dealers asked around 34 cents a pound for bacon, but Mr. Cross discarded their bids. He can get all he wants from the government at 20 cents.—Courier-Journal.

Caloric Quality is Your Protection

Over 50,000 homes in the United States heartily endorse Caloric quality. The owners know the merits of the Original Patented Pipeless Furnace. They have daily proof that it correctly applies the Caloric's own law of circulated heat, that it saves 35% of the fuel and that its Ironclad Guarantee of comfort and economy is always made good by its performance.

Caloric success is due to its principles of construction. It is not a pipe furnace with a pipe nor is it a makeshift adapted to meet a moment's need. The best efforts of scientifically trained engineers resulted years ago in this new type furnace, which has been tested and improved until it embodies those principles necessary to your satisfaction not found in imitations, because they are not tested by patents. There is as much difference in pipeless furnaces as in horses—you can buy quality or you can get cheapness, which costs more in the long run.

Let Us Show You

See Caloric and explain its exclusive features. Then you will never be satisfied with any other and will know that it represents the most for the money. You will not make the mistake of a poor investment when you understand why the Caloric is so superior, why it stands alone in leadership in this field and why imitations cannot produce its satisfaction to users.

The Caloric can be installed quickly in old and new houses. It burns coal, coke, wood or gas. Clean, fire-proof, well made and fully guaranteed.

Come in and get the free book "Progress," which tells all the facts about pipeless heating. Study the question and let us show you how easily the furnace can be put into your house.

THE COST OF LIVING

Official Gives Statistics Of What One Should Spend Per Annum.

Official estimates for a "health and decency" budget for government clerks place the minimum expenses of a family of five at $2,262; an unmarried woman at $1,083 and a single man at $1,000.

These figures have been made public by Dr. Royal Meeker, chief of the Bureau of Statistics, in connection with the investigation of federal salaries by the congressional committee.

The food item in the family budget expense is put at $773.93. The clothing bill for the year is put at $513.72, of which the husband allotted $121.16, the wife $186.46; 11 year old boy $96.60, the 5-year-old girl $82.50 and the baby (two years) $47. Housing, fuel and light are placed at $428 and miscellaneous expenses at $546.82, a total of $2,262.47.

If the wife was especially competent in the art of shopping, did her own sewing and practiced all household economies the budget might be reduced; it was explained to a "rock-bottom minimum" of $2,025.56.

The bureau in compiling these estimates, makes a hat allowance for the wife of one and a half hats a year; $10.00 for winter hat and $5 for a summer one, the winter hat to be worn two years. An item of $8.40 is allowed for a newspaper, held by Dr. Meeker to be a necessity. The family amusement appropriation is set at $40, which also includes magazines, though in general, such luxuries as the latter, it was pointed out are to be enjoyed at the public library.

Stinnett had an x-ray picture of his foot taken by Dr. Rash, who advised him that he will not be able to play any more this season.

ENORMOUS GAS WASTE.

Poor construction of pipe lines is the cause assigned for the loss in one year of natural gas valued at $9,000,000 in the states of Missouri and Kansas alone.

MENACE OF THE I. W. W.

To say that the strikes and the industrial discontent in the United States is the work of "foreigners" is to explain nothing and to solve nothing.

In the first place it is not true, and in the next place if it were true we should have the essential facts to deal with just the same, inasmuch as American industry is wholly dependent on this foreign labor, thanks to the policy it has persistently followed for the last thirty years. But Great Britain is having even more critical labor troubles than the United States; yet Britain labor is native labor. In Italy conditions are still worse, and there again the labor is all native labor and has been for a thousand years.

We shall get nowhere by pretending that all this ferment in the United States is the work of ignorant foreigners. There is nothing mysterious or occult about it. It has been going on in plain sight of everybody who would take the trouble to look. The issue at present is a contest between the conservative labor leaders for the control of the Labor Federation. That contest has been in progress for years, radicalism having gained immeasurably as a result of the war, while conservatism has lost ground.

Although the doctrines of the I. W. W. are totally un-American in the sense of being antagonistic to the American tradition and the American theory of government, they are not un-American in their origin. The I. W. W. as a militant organization of industrial revolutionists has been at work for twenty years and has been gaining strength every year that it has been at work. The country refused to take it seriously because it was regarded merely as a "roughneck" labor organization that resorted to violence and sabotage, and as the average American does not believe that disorder can succeed, he took it for granted that the I. W. W. could be put down by the bayonet and the policeman's billy. What he refused to take into consideration was the fact that violence and sabotage were incidents in the career of syndicalism and that they could be abandoned even more easily than they could be adopted.

The I. W. W. leaders may still favor the torch and the bomb; they may still believe that the destruction of property is a defensible and effective means of getting rid of the capitalist; but that is not the policy they are now pursuing. They are engaging in organizing the "proletariat" into one big union, as they call it, in the belief that they can bring the great masses of workers into a single organization, they can then seize the machinery of government as well as the machinery of industry. They are trying to do in a different way exactly what Lenin and Trotzky did in Russia, and as far as possible they are using the old labor organizations as a convenient weapon.

The time when the I. W. W. was openly at war with the American Federation of Labor. Then it changed its tactics and set out to capture the Federation. The battle is still on, but the I. W. W. organizers have succeeded in getting a foothold in every important union, and in many of them they are either in absolute control or they hold the balance of power between rival factions.

They have found that, temporarily at least, tearing up wage agreements promotes their purposes better than the use of dynamite; that more can be accomplished by bringing about the violation of union contracts than by dropping emery dust into the machinery of the factory; that the demand for higher wages and less work is a more eloquent appeal than any form of violence. While they always use the weapon that seems the most useful their aims never change, and their aims are identical with the aims of the Bolsheviks everywhere.

Nobody can reach an intelligent understanding of the industrial situation in the United States or of the new dangers that confront American institutions who does not fearlessly fact the facts of the syndicalist movement in this country. It has become not more formidable, but menacing, and to seek to dismiss it as the work of the ignorant "foreigners" is a manifestation of suicidal folly. It cannot be put down by force. It must be met with education, and education is wholly lacking. Nowhere is there any organized attempt to deal with this question intelligently and to enable to American people to comprehend what it means to them and their children. New York World.

Brought Harvest Hand Along.
While a Nebraska farmer living near Kimball was working with his harvesting crew, wondering how he could get more help, an airplane landed in a cleared patch of wheat stubble, and the aviator walked over to the harvesters, leaving the other occupant of the airplane in his seat. "I've got a fellow here I found begging on the street at Omaha," the aviator told the farmer, "and hearing of the lack of harvest help I've brought him here to the first good farm landing place so he can't avoid getting the job he said he couldn't find. The rest is up to you."

When Vicious Propagandists

Form a Steady Influence
Maj. General Littleton W. T. Waller of the United States Marines has watched the Boy Scouts at work and this is what he has to say of them:

"If a lad lives up to the Scout oath he must of necessity become a good citizen, making his mark in his generation."

"The record of the graduates from the scouts to the military service has been excellent, a record to thrill the Scouts with pride."

"The Boy Scouts of America have done splendid work in the efforts to keep up men at the front in good shape. In all the drives for Liberty Loans their work has been increasingly valuable. The instruction received by the lads spells preparedness for good citizenship and for the living of clean, upright, moral lives."

"I am strongly in favor of the movement, especially at this period of unrest and uncertainty, when vicious propaganda is doing much to undermine the content and happiness of our people. I hope the movement may wax stronger and stronger year by year."

BAPTIST SCHOOLS FURNISHING RECRUITS

In connection with the Baptist 75 Million Campaign, October 24, all Baptist schools of the South observed the day known as the "Calling out the Called," and as a result reports received from 20 school centers shows that there were 1,841 volunteers for special service. In addition, there were many conversions and it has been said that it was the greatest day in the history of Baptist schools. The goal of Southern Baptists was 5,000 added recruits and on Sunday when the day was observed in all the churches more than 3,000 volunteered, making the number exceed the 5,000 expected. As the campaign draws closer to Victory Week, the Baptist people are more enthusiastic about the outcome. Victory seems certain.

cording to those familiar with the program. Secretary Daniels announced today that sailors and marines will be shifted to land duty and attached to military organizations, if their services are demanded by the president. There has been no statement, however, as to the policy of determination of using troops. Much will depend upon what happens after the mines shut down tonight.

Satisfied that there was no longer hope of averting the strike, but eager to have miners and operators mediate, government officials felt that a rasping note had been sounded by John L. Lewis, president of the Mine Workers of America, in a telegram to Secretary of Labor Wilson, attacking President Wilson for his part in trying to bring peace to the industry. The mine workers' president was replying to a telegram sent by Secretary Wilson, which the Secretary refused to make public.

Garfield in Charge.

With the fixing of maximum prices ed into service first and troops will be called only as a last resort, also for bituminous and anthracite coal, and establishment of the priorities list, Fuel Administrator Garfield again will take command of the situation, under his old war-time powers. Much of this work will be carried out through the Bureau of Mines of the Interior Department, and the Railroad Administration. Director-General Hines and Dr. Garfield attended the cabinet meeting and the mode of procedure was said to follow their suggestion.

Coal will be allocated and distributed in accordance with the plan followed two years ago during the severe weather when the supply was short. It the strike is prolonged and the output meanwhile limited, the less essential industries will be forced to curtail. There is a growing belief in official circles, however, that much coal will come out of the non-union mines and from union mines, working, perhaps, with small shifts. Whatever is mined will be moved speedily, the Railroad Administration assured the public.

DRY AMENDMENT HELD IN DANGER

Publicity Man Says Evans' Decision at Louisville Has Encouraged Liquor People.

That there is danger of the defeat of the statewide prohibition amendment and that the decision of Judge Walter Evans of the Federal Court at Louisville, granting an injunction against the revenue collector to the distilling interests to permit them to take their liquor out of bond and holding the war-time prohibition act invalid, has put new heart in the liquor people is the statement made by J. Sherman Porter, publicity director of the Statewide Prohibition Federation.

"The liquor people have taken on a new lease of life," said Mr. Porter, "since Judge Evans decided the wartime prohibition act as invalid. It has given them hope that they may succeed in upsetting the national prohibition amendment and that they will make a fight against the state amendment in Kentucky next Tuesday is certain. Unless the dry voters go to the polls, especially in the cities of the State, the State amendment is in danger of defeat. If the dry men do turn out the amendment will go over, for experience with war time prohibition has demonstrated to the business and manufacturing interests the value of prohibition from an economic standpoint."

LUXEMBURG'S RULER

TO WED ON NOVEMBER 6

Luxemburg, Oct. 30.—Grand Duchess Charlotte of Luxemburg and Prince Felix, of Bourbon-Parme, will be married here on November 6 by a bishop.

Prince Felix was born at Schwarzenau, Sept. 28, 1893. Unlike his brothers, Sixtus and Xavier, who served in the Belgian army, he entered the Austrian service, although he declared at the beginning of hostilities he would refuse to fight against the French.

Owing to Prince Felix's war service there was some hostility to his marriage to Grand Duchess Charlotte, but the latter declared it was a love match and that she would wed no other. The people of Luxemburg subsequently acquiesced in this view.

"Watch Your Feet"

$1.00 50c 25c a Day

Forever Gone!

If you were to lose $1.00, 50c or even 25c a day by having a hole in your pocket, how long would it be before you had your pocket fixed? The man who has four or five cows and no Separator is losing $1.00 per day. The man who has two or three cows is losing 50c per day by not having a Separator. The man that is using a cheap makeshift Separator with four or five cows is losing 25c per day. The loss of 25c per day would buy a DE LAVAL Separator in a year.

DOES IT PAY TO BUY A CHEAP SEPARATOR?

We know a party who has had a DE LAVAL about five years and he hasn't spent one cent for repairs. His neighbor bought one of the "just as good" Separators and has spent $20 for repairs, to say nothing of loss of cream.

Does It Pay to Buy a Cheap Separator?

There are DE LAVALS around here that have been in use for many years without a cent's repairs. Does a cheap Separator pay? Don't let the price of a good Separator get in front of you so that you can't see through it. Look right ahead and see what is in store for the man with a DE LAVAL Separator and butter fat around 75c. The DE LAVAL is not built down to a price, it is built to satisfy people who want value for their money.

Remember, you can't get all there is in your milk with a cheap machine. You who have just bought a cheap Separator will say, "I am not losing 25c a day." Wait; your time will come. Wait until you have used it a year or two. Then loss of cream and repairs.

Buy a DE LAVAL now—save time, trouble and money.

NOTICE—A $5.00 advance already on. We are selling machines we have in stock at the price. See us today.
